Query 1: Rule book or any circular/IOM/Guidelines for S/S which is operated from RTAMC.

Reply: The information sought pertains to operations of extra high voltage substations from RTAMC. The EHV substation operations can be done from the local substation level and from remote also. Normally operations are done from remotely located RTAMC and in case of any technical issue; the control can be transferred to NTAMC also.

Query 2: IOM/Technical circular regarding keeping AC/DC supply of isolators ON/OFF.

Reply: In the normal operations of the EHV substations, both AC & DC supplies are kept ON for the isolators.

Query 3: List of Sub-stations which fall under special category where colony is not inside the S/S premises and shift duty has to be performed during odd hours.

Reply: Colony for the employees of substations is decided on case to case basis keeping in view of security, reliability and other aspects of various locations.

Query 4: As per norms, who is responsible for keeping the control room mobile-workmen/supervisors/executive.

Query 5: If control room mobile is kept by an employee during off duty hours on the orders of reporting/controlling officer, what is compensation policy for the same.

Reply to Query no 4 & 5: The control Room mobile is used for 24/7 operation. All related issues are taken care by the Shift Operator for all times in the control room.

The various document sought above are intellectual property & sensitive in nature for the security of our business operations. Hence, disclosure/ divulging of the same in public domain is exempted as per section 8(a) & 8(d) of RTI Act.
